Tourist Increase is Forerunner of Big Surge of Visitors, Area Ass'n Told

About Town

And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

I DROPPED OUT to Davenport gym Saturday morning to watch basketball. No, the Bull Dogs were not playing—not even practicing. But they were being put to work.

The basketball league was in session and I saw grade school boys from little over knee high to freshmen who looked like they might tower pretty tall in a couple of years.

The boys or the varsity and freshman-sophomore team were busy acting as coaches, officials and scorekeepers.

And the type of basketball I saw wasn't the typical sandlot, dribble-and-shoot type you might expect. The boys were acting like they had been taught some fundamentals of the game. They would pass the ball around and if they couldn't get their shot off, they'd pass some more.

John Dotson, HTHS basketball coach, is doing a great service to the game of basketball in Harrisburg by taking the time and having the patience required to run such a program that involves boys of all ages.

Have you looked inside the Harrisburg city building recently? A paint job on the stairs and main corridor has done wonders to the interior.

Bill Sandage and Carl Hatfield have done the job with paint furnished free of charge by the Green Paint and Wallpaper store.

WITH DIAL TELEPHONES to be a reality in Harrisburg one of these months, one point has come up that I betcha hasn't been in the minds of many.

It deals with this: How can a blind person, accustomed to giving the number desired to the operator, use the dial system.

It can be done, Millard Lyneth, district manager of the General Telephone Company of Illinois, (Continued on Page Six)

Dr. George Wilson of Geological Survey Addresses Group at Metropolis

METROPOLIS, Ill. — Marked increase in tourist visits in Southern Illinois late last summer and thru the fall is but an inkling of a tourist industry that can be created through co-operation, Dr. George M. Wilson, chief of the educational division, Illinois Geological Survey, said here Monday night.

Dr. Wilson was addressing nearly 50 members of the Shawnee Hills Recreation Assn. meeting at the Farley Cafeteria here.

"It is safe to believe the tourist increase we had in 1956 is but a forerunner of a great surge of visitors into this highly scenic and historic area within the next few years—as soon as we can properly present its case to the touring public and neighbors of Western Kentucky and Southeastern Indiana," Dr. Wilson said.

J. L. Buford to Address County Teachers Friday

J. Lester Buford

J. Lester Buford, past president of the National Education association, will be the principal speaker at the annual spring institute of the Saline County Education association, to be held Friday at the Harrisburg Junior high school.

Mr. Buford, superintendent of Mt. Vernon, Ill., city schools, formerly was high school principal at Galatia and Eldorado. His subject will be "Proud to Teach."

The program will start at 9:15 a. m. with the invocation by the Rev. Joe Morman, pastor of the First Baptist church of Harrisburg, and music by the H. T. H. S. chorus directed by John Schork.

Following the business session at 9:40, conducted by Brose Phillips, association president, there will be a social period before Aubrey J. Holmes, secretary of the Illinois Municipal Retirement System for teachers, discusses "Teachers Retirement."

The program will be resumed at 1:30 p. m. with selections by the E. T. H. S. madrigal singers, directed by Earl Vogelpohl.

At 1:45 p. m. C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, will recognize teachers with long service in the profession by giving them awards of merit.

After the address by Mr. Buford, the Rev. W. L. Cummins, pastor of the First Methodist church of Harrisburg, will pronounce the benediction.

"This Southern Illinois territory, rich in lore of days gone by, is a veritable wonderland from a geological standpoint. We now provide boating, hunting, fishing, hiking and camping facilities second to none in the Midwest—and many other localities, for that matter," Dr. Wilson said.

Dr. Wilson then told of fossil hunting, scenic trails, cliff climbing, a wealth of Indian relics yet to be discovered, caves exploring as well as historical sites, buildings and forts of days gone by that are located in the Gallatin, Saline, Hardin, Pope, Massac and Johnson County area.

Wilson showed slides of geological formations to be seen in Shawnee Forest.

A committee working with Southern Illinois University described progress in the creation of brochures exploiting the attractions of the area, which will be distributed over a wide area.

In addition to the general brochures, each of the six counties represented in the association is preparing special literature that will pinpoint local features.

Don Blair, superintendent of the Memorial bridge across the Wash river west of Mt. Vernon, Ind., spoke briefly in telling association members that publicizing the Shawnee Forest last fall resulted in an increase of traffic from Indiana into Illinois across the bridge.

"Naturally the bridge, operated by the Indiana Toll Bridge Commission, stands ready to co-operate with your association in increasing tourist travel from Indiana and points east into your area," Blair said.

It was announced that the State of Illinois has made arrangements to enlarge Ferne Clyffe State Park near Goreville.

The next meeting will be held in Goreville March 18.

Two Arrested Over Week End Damage Jail Plumbing

Walter Moss, charged with driving while intoxicated, and John R. Givens, his companion charged with intoxication, pleaded guilty to the charges in police magistrate court and costs of repairing city jail plumbing were added to their fines.

Police Chief Ross Lane said the two were picked up over the week end by city police and placed in jail, where they damaged some plumbing. Moss was fined $150 and costs plus $10 for plumbing repair. Givens was fined for drunkenness with $10 added for his share of the bill.

Three others were arrested over the week-end on charges of intoxication.

Group Okays Expansion in Soil Bank Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee by a close vote today approved a Democratic plan calling for vast expansion in soil bank payments to farmers for taking land out of production.

The measure was approved over Republican opposition. A bitter floor fight is expected between Democratic farm leaders and administration forces when the bill is considered in the House. One member said the vote in committee was 17-15.

The Democratic plan would set up two supplementary programs of soil bank subsidies. It also would grant, in modified form, the administration's request for restoration of last year's soil bank benefits for commercial corn growers.

Major beneficiaries would include wheat and cotton growers who have diverted acreage into feed grains or oilseed crops.

The committee rejected a substitute plan offered by Republicans which would have provided only for a restoration of last year's benefits for commercial corn growers.

It was impossible to foresee in advance exactly how much the Democratic program would cost. The committee included in the bill an additional $250 million a year authorization for soil bank payments under the "acreage reserve," boosting the limit to $1 billion a year.

The acreage reserve payments now are restricted to growers of basic crops who plant less than their government-allotted acreage.

Former Harrisburg Man Admits Pope County Burglary

GOLCONDA, Ill. — A 23-year-old Pope county man was released after $2,500 bond in justice of the peace court here Monday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of burglarizing the Brinkmeyer billiard hall on Main street here Sunday and stealing $423.

He is Charles Henry Hughes, former Harrisburg resident arrested there Sunday by Harrisburg Police Chief Ross Lane at the request of Pope County Sheriff James R. Gilliam. When arrested he had more than $200 on him.

Lane went to Golconda Monday to assist in the questioning and Hughes admitted the burglary. He said he gave $115 to Charles Farmer of Harrisburg and Farmer turned over the money to authorities.

Slack Discusses Mining Equipment At Rotary Meeting

Clayton Slack, from the Sahara Coal company, was the guest speaker Monday at the Rotary meeting, held at Santy's cafe.

Mr. Slack was introduced by program chairman, Lowden Pankey, and spoke on the equipment that is being used in mine No. 7, since its opening last December.

One machine mentioned was the ripper type, which is 28 feet long and about 35 times the weight of an automobile. This machine actually rips the coal from the walls of the mine. Another machine, the Jeffrey Colmol continuous mining machine, is capable of bringing down coal from 46½ inches to 72 inches and can mine coal at the rate of 100 tons per man shift. This machinery is all run on 250 volts d. c. electrical power.

Mr. Slack spoke of the competition between the shaft mines and the strip mines, stating that the strip mines are able to mine coal much cheaper than the shaft mines. He said, if this area is to get its share of the world markets, the mines must have cheaper transportation to the shipping points.

Gordon Goodman was welcomed into the club as a new member and Harry Beck of West Frankfort was the guest of Burdette Thurman.

Washington (AP)—The House Veterans Committee claimed today to have opened the way for a substantial rural GI home building program and hinted of help to come for veterans in big cities.

The committee turned down the administration's request Monday for an increase from 4½ to 5 percent in interest rates on commercial GI home loans guaranteed by the government. It also voted to liberalize an existing program of direct government loans to home-buying veterans in non-urban areas.

Federal housing administrator Albert M. Cole assailed the committee's action as a "very serious blow" to the hopes of thousands of veterans unable to get home loans at the 4½ percent rate.

Cole said he will support action on the House floor to amend the committee's bill to authorize increasing the rate to 5 percent to "put veterans in a more favorable competitive position to get the mortgage funds they need."

Committee Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.) reported that Cole himself put the veterans in a disadvantageous position when he authorized an increase in the FHA loan rate from 4½ to 5 percent late last year.

As for the Teague amendment, Teague said it was directed toward helping the rural veterans who he said never have been able to get GI loans—even in the period when 4½ percent mortgages were generally available in the cities.

"There will be other action later to help veterans in the metropolitan areas," Teague told a newsman.

He declined to say what he had in mind. But there have been indications from other sources that the committee may get behind a liberalization of FHA loan provisions to give veterans the same 2 percent down payment privilege they have enjoyed under GI loans.

Since this would be at the new and higher FHA rate, in effect it would be about the same as increasing the GI loan rate to 5 percent as the administration wants.

However, the direct government loan for veterans outside the big cities would remain at 4½ percent. Also, veterans able to find private GI money at 4½ percent could continue to use the GI program.

Cass watched Alex go, tall, straight-shouldered. After a long minute, determination stern in her face, she closed the door into the living room and turned back to the bed. She stood there for a time, looking down at the paralyzed woman, trying again to see the young girl she once had been rather than the helpless but tyrannical invalid she had become. A woman such as Cass Ward might one day be, counting the beads of domination over her family, treasuring them.

"I want you to know, Mrs. Ward," her chill voice said, "that I realize what I have become."

"Hey!" roared Aunt Cordy. She raised herself on her pillows again, her hand clutching for Cass who stepped out of reach.

"I have become an evil thing under the guise of being extra-good, self-sacrificing, hard-working, noble if you like—but evil, just the same. And like all evil-doers, I've justified the things I have been doing by deciding that those things were not evil."

"We all do what we think is right—or we would do otherwise. But when the time comes that we think—that we know—those things are wrong, we must change what we are doing, or become truly evil."

"First—for Marcy, your daughter."

Again she waited upon a spasm of rage.

"She is your daughter," said Cass then, inexorably, "and there is no possible justification for your feeling toward her except the evil within you. She is to go with the man she loves, and know happiness with him."

"Next there is Alex, your son. I must send him to the work he has always wanted to do. I've tried to hold him here, just as you tried to hold him. I could go on holding him—I could, tonight, tell him, 'You can't leave, Alex. You have to operate upon Mrs. Blair.' Cass began to walk up and down the room."

"And Alex would say to me, 'I don't have to do any such thing! I'm not going to settle for less if I can get the best. And the best would be to send Mrs. Blair to a skilled gynecologist.'"

"That's what Alex would say to me, Mrs. Ward. And he would be right. I have no right interfering with him and his work."

Some of the glow faded, and she stood still in the middle of the crowded room. Then she spoke with decision. "As for myself, I must try to become a woman again, one to whom I can give respect."

Without another glance at Cordy Ward, she walked out of the room. Habit made Cass clean up the kitchen, but at last, at last she could go over to the apartment.

A lamp was lit, but Alex was not there.

The apartment seemed strangely silent—and empty. A tremor of fear rose in Cass's throat, and she looked quickly about her. Alex's bag was not beside the door; she ran to the closet; hangers were black frames of emptiness upon the rod. She opened drawers, and slammed them shut. Empty drawers. . . .

Alex had left. Without one word.

The second day after the storm was a lustrous one, with a hurtling blue sky overhead, the leaves on the trees sparkling green.

Since May, a wheel chair had stood beside Aunt Cordy's bed, with the sick woman steadfastly refusing all efforts and persuasion to get her into it. But that morning, coming down the front stairs, Cass stopped short at the sight of Backy wheeling the chair through the hall and out to the side porch. In it sat Aunt Cordy, swathed in a blue chenille robe, her hair freshly brushed and pinned into place, powder on her face, and lipstick.

Marcy and Cass came to stand beside Aunt Cordy. Marcy was dressed in her light tweed suit, the one she had worn on the day when she returned to the Cove.

Marcy turned to the wheel chair. "Aunt Cordy," she said in the slow, measured fashion with which the family spoke to the invalid, "I'm going away with Jake."

She gestured toward the tall, still-faced man who had come up the steps and stood behind her. "In case you are laboring under the same delusion as afflicted Cass . . ." She threw a grin at her sister-in-law. " . . . he is not my husband."

She stooped quickly and kissed the cheek of her mother who sat nodding her head, and smiling, as if in agreement with herself.

"It's okay," said Marcy happily. "She's hoping this is the no-good-end she's always predicted for me. You can tell her the truth if you insist, but, believe me, she'll like it better this way. I'll go in and say goodbye to Cass."

She went into the house.

She hugged Cass warmly, and kissed her. "You kicked Alex out of the box, huh?" she asked.

"No," said Cass, "he went of his own accord."

"Well, good for him! But good for you, too! I feel better about leaving you. He'll be back, or he'll send for you." She kissed Cass again, and Jake took his turn. Cass watched them drive away.

Without awaiting a reaction—if there was any—she walked down the street, crossed it and started toward the business district.

She went first to the bank and was there for some 20 minutes. Next she went to the hospital.

Ingrid Bergman is Nominated For Oscar by Film Workers

HOLLYWOOD — Ingrid Bergman, who last year broke a self-imposed exile and made a triumphant comeback to Hollywood films, has been honored by 14,000 motion picture industry workers with an Academy Award nomination.

Miss Bergman's victory against the bitter controversy that raged over her marriage to Italian director Roberto Rossellini appeared complete Monday night when the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences named the Swedish actress one of 20 players nominated for the 29th annual Oscar derby.

Newcomer Named

Miss Bergman, the star of "Anastasia," will compete for the world's top acting honors with newcomer Carroll Baker of the controversial "Baby Doll," and three veterans like herself—Katharine Hepburn of "The Rainmaker," Nancy Kelly of "The Bad Seed," and Deborah Kerr of "The King and I."

Miss Baker's nomination came for her first starring role. She had been seen on the screen only once before, in a supporting role in "Giant."

The male nominees are Yul Brynner, "The King and I," the late James Dean, "Giant," Kirk Douglas, "Lust For Life," Rock Hudson, "Giant," and an Englishman considered a dark horse surprise nominee, Laurence Olivier, "Richard III."

Oscars March 27

Supporting actresses who snar-

ed coveted nominations were Mildred Dunnock, "Baby Doll," Eileen Heckart, "The Bad Seed," Mercedes McCambridge, "Giant," Patty McCormack, "The Bad Seed," and Dorothy Malone, "Written on the Wind."

Nominees for the Academy Award for the best motion picture of 1956 "Around the World in 80 Days," "Friendly Persuasion," "Giant," "The King and I" and "The Ten Commandments."

Only the 1800 members of the Academy of Arts and Sciences and industry honorary vote on the final winners. Oscar winners will be given gold statuettes on a 90-minute NBC telecast March 27.

ST. JOSEPH ASPIRIN FOR CHILDREN

WORLD'S LARGEST SELLING ASPIRIN FOR CHILDREN

What kind of looks has your wife been giving you lately?

The look to watch for comes out of the corner of the eye. Sometimes the lid drops slightly.

Let it be a warning to you as plain as a peal of thunder: there's a storm brewing about money. Maybe she's concluded you're good at making it but just not very smart about handling it. Stop her in her tracks by addressing her something like this:

Darling (you say gently), I suggest that you and I, together, look into the matter of increasing our family income by investing a little money at regular intervals in common stock or bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange. And no interruptions, please, until you have made this fascinating journey with me in five steps. . .

First step: Two out of three shareowners have incomes under $7500 a year. If we own stock we'll have a chance of getting dividends to increase our income and of getting income from other sources than my job. And if the company grows the value of our investment may grow, too. Because stock makes us part-owners of the company and if it prospers we may share in its prosperity. Or we can buy bonds that promise to pay interest on our money.

Second step: We'll be intelligent investors. Sometimes a company doesn't pay dividends or doesn't grow. So we won't jump at tips or rumors—we'll get facts before we buy. And we'll use only money left over after the bills and family emergencies are provided for.

Third step: We'll introduce ourselves to a fellow who knows a lot more about investing than we do—a broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. We'll ask him to help us plan a really sensible investment program. We'll find out whether bonds are better for us than stocks. Everybody who's going to invest should ask the help of a good broker. That's what he's there for . . . to help us buy or sell securities wisely.

Fourth step: Together we'll read a wonderful booklet called "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." It's got sixteen pages packed with information about more than 800 stocks on the Exchange that have paid dividends every year from 25 to 108 years. It tells which ones are preferred by financial institutions, which pay 5 to 6 percent dividends at recent prices, and other interesting facts.

Fifth step: And finally, in that booklet we'll read about the marvelously convenient Monthly Investment Plan that can help us invest regularly in some of America's greatest corporations. In any one Plan we can invest as little as $40 every three months—up to $1000 a month.

And now darling (you conclude winningly), will you take this journey with me into the fascinating world of investments? If you will, we can own our share of American business.

If you deliver the above speech with proper inflections, your wife will break into a broad and loving smile. But don't let her beat you to the coupon. That's your prerogative. Tear it out now and send it at the first opportunity.

How Texas Eastern helps Bendix give "SAGE" advice

Row on row of vacuum tubes help do the thinking for the giant electronic computer "brain" of "SAGE" (Semi-Automatic Ground Environment)—America's new air warning network. These tubes are in continuous service—so they have to be rugged. And that's the way Bendix Aviation's Red Bank Division makes them . . . with an assist from Texas Eastern.

Texas Eastern transports natural gas via pipeline from the Southwest for use in the Eatontown, N. J., Bendix plant. Gas is used in all critical tube forming and sealing operations. High heat content of natural gas and uniformity of its heating characteristics help produce high quality tubes.

Sentence Blonde For Bigamy

RICHMOND, Ind. — A much-married blonde, who failed to divorce three of her seven husbands, began serving a 90-day term for bigamy today at Indiana Women's Prison.

Mrs. Cynthia Corraditti, 23, was sentenced Monday despite a dramatic, tearful plea for mercy. Judge John Brubaker levied the sentence after the pregnant woman pleaded guilty.

"I only came to the police to be helped—not to be judged," she sobbed when Brubaker sentenced her. "I am asking for pity. I am asking for a break."

But Brubaker was not swayed by her tears. "You are not a bad woman," he said, "but you flouted the law and knew you were doing it."

She was led from the court room by her mother and a deputy sheriff after she grew hysterical.

Meanwhile, her sixth husband, Eugene Fultz, 24, Dayton, Ohio, said he planned to file for an annulment. But Mrs. Corraditti said one of her husbands, whom she declined to identify, had promised to care for her and her unborn child after she leaves prison. She said they will move to Arizona.

Introduce Bills To Appropriate Funds for Vaccine

SPRINGFIELD — Bills were introduced in the Senate and House today to appropriate 2 1/2 million dollars for the Illinois Health Department to buy Salk polio vaccine for free distribution.

The measures were introduced by Sen. Daniel Rostenkowski and Rep. Esther Saperstein, both Chicago Democrats, who first asked for two million dollars.

But Mrs. Saperstein said Gov. William G. Stratton had told her he would not "at this time" oppose the bill if it was cut to 1 1/2 million dollars.

The bills were referred to committees.

Lana Turner, Husband Separate

HOLLYWOOD — Film star Lana Turner, Hollywood's original sweater girl, revealed today that she has separated from her fourth husband, Lex Barker, the former movie Tarzan.

The screen beauty said Barker moved out of their house into a hotel Sunday and that she plans to see an attorney as soon as possible about getting a divorce.

"There has been a misunderstanding and we have separated," the actress told friends. It was reported that Barker was hopeful of a reconciliation.

Young Couple Returned to Salem To Face Charges of Killing Marine

SALEM, Ill. — A young married couple has been returned here to face murder charges in the death of a hitch-hiking Indiana Marine.

Robert Baker, 26, and his wife Trudy Jo, 17, ended a 2,250 mile trip from Prosser, Wash., to Salem Monday night.

Marion County Sheriff William Hoskinson and Special Deputy Albert Hawn Jr. brought the couple back. They said Baker and his wife were "very co-operative" during the five-day trip.

The Benton County sheriff's office at Prosser said that in signed confessions the Bakers said they killed Marine Larry M. Kirk, 21, Winslow, Ind., last December.

Mrs. Baker in her confession said they planned to rob Kirk and decided, while he was asleep, that the only way to get away with the crime was to murder him.

Clabaugh to Ask Opinion of Att'y General

SPRINGFIELD — State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman said today he will confer with State Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh at the first opportunity concerning Clabaugh's state contracts.

Clabaugh himself returned to Springfield for the legislative session today and planned to request an attorney general's opinion on the legality of contracts and sub-contracts held by his firm, the Champaign Weather Strip Co.

Atty. Gen. Latham Castle said his office would give Clabaugh an opinion "as a matter of courtesy," but that it was not the attorney general's duty to give an official ruling in the case.

Ackerman said his office was still studying the Clabaugh firm's dealings with the state and the University of Illinois and so far has reached no conclusion as to whether the case will be presented to a grand jury.

State law prohibits "direct or indirect" dealings by legislators in state contracts.

On his return from a Canadian vacation Monday, Clabaugh denied any wrongdoing in connection with the contracts, which were mostly for window work and weather stripping on state buildings.

"I know in my own mind... there can be no question of the propriety of the subcontracts," he said. But he said he preferred to talk to Castle before discussing the contracts on which his firm bid directly.

He said he believed there was a difference in his personally obtaining a contract and obtaining of a contract by his firm's salesmen. He said it had been several years since he had directly sold a contract to the University of Illinois.

Brakeman Loses Both His Legs

WATSEKA, Ill. — State police rushed blood to the Iroquois Hospital here for a brakeman on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad who lost both legs in an accident at Milford.

William Serpinas, 27, Danville, was injured when he slipped while trying to board a locomotive at the Jones street crossing in Milwaukee Monday.

Serpinas was taken to the Iroquois Hospital, but no blood of his type was available. State police set up a relay of squad cars from Peoria, where they picked up five pints of blood. One donor contributed in the emergency.

Strip Teasers

Their G-strings

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. — Two strip-teasers ended a brief visit here Monday on a sour note.

They lost their G-strings. Worse, they told police, they also lost five gowns valued at a total of $1,535 when their car was rifled while parked near a restaurant.

Miss Tommie Eyvonne Dunlap, 21, Fort Worth, Tex., and Mrs. Cheri Hart, 22, Barnesville, Ga., continued to Peoria, site of their next engagement, after picking up a few things to take off.

Boy, 4, Drowns Trying to Prove to Sister He Could Swim

MIAMI, Fla. — Johnny Stout, 4, drowned Monday when he dove into a muddy rockpit to prove to his six-year-old "big sister" he could swim.

The boy's lifeless body was pulled from six feet of water a few minutes after he plunged into the rockpit. Bonnie Marie Stout said she called to her brother not to go in the water because he could not swim, but he insisted on trying to prove he could.

Actress Maria Toren Dies

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Swedish actress Maria Toren died early today of a rare brain ailment in Stockholm's South Hospital. She was 31.

Dr. Goesta Von Reis, who described her condition as "hopeless" when she entered the hospital Sunday in an extremely serious condition, said that there was nothing he could do.

Miss Toren had been in Stockholm playing the leading part in a Swedish comedy hit. She was stricken after the Saturday evening performance.

Her husband, playwright Leonardo Bercovici, arrived here for a visit shortly before she was stricken.

Miss Toren went to Hollywood 10 years ago after attending Stockholm's Royal Dramatic School where Ingrid Bergman and Greta Garbo were trained. She performed in 18 movies, most of them in Hollywood.

She married Bercovici in 1932 and bore him a daughter, Christina, that year.

About Town And Country

told me. All it requires is some instruction.

Mr. Lynch said that if blind persons who plan to use the dial telephone will give their names to the local telephone office, he or somebody else from the office will go to them and give them instruction in the use of the new type phone.

"It doesn't take long to get the person who cannot see to using the telephone perfectly," Mr. Lynch stated.

He said there were three such cases in Eldorado, that they were instructed in the use of the dial phone.

IT DIDN'T HAPPEN HERE: Paying no attention to the red traffic light, he whizzing cars, or the policeman's outraged whistle, the little old lady marched across the street.

Brakes squealed, horns blasted and the police officer strode angrily over to the lady.

"Say," he growled, "didn't you see my hand raised? Don't you know what that means?"

"Well, I should hope I do," snapped the lady. "I was a school teacher for thirty years."

In a separate deal, Milt Graff an infielder, was traded to Kansas City by Denver of the American Association, the Yankees' top farm club, in exchange for first baseman Wayne Belardi, pitcher Jack McMahan and a player to be designated later.

Bell to Ask Rate Hikes Despite Record Earnings

NEW YORK — Despite the greatest dollar earnings in its history in 1936, the Bell Telephone System plans to "vigorously pursue" new rate increases in many states.

Frederick R. Kappel, president of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent of the Bell System, said earnings are inadequate to assure the company's necessary growth.

AT&T's consolidated net income last year rose to a new all-time high of $777,791,083, or $13.16 a share, making it the world's third biggest corporate money earner. In 1935, the company earned $683,543,449, or $13.10 a share on fewer shares outstanding.

Only General Motors Corp. and Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) earned more after taxes than the Bell System.

Kappel, citing sharply increased costs of doing business, said in the annual report to stockholders that "earnings above the present level are needed to assure successful financing, fair treatment of share owners and improved service."

As a result, he said Bell companies have applications pending for rate increases totaling $130 million a year and that more are expected to be filed.

Blonde With Brains Delours Van Doren Bid to Boost Winnings

NEW YORK — Charles Van Doren, a college instructor who has amassed $143,000 by bowling over 13 opponents in a TV quiz game, ran into a snag Monday night—a blonde with brains.

Mrs. Vivienne Nearing, a 30-year-old attorney from New York, deloured Van Doren in his bid to boost his winnings even higher on NBC-TV's "Twenty One," a giveaway based roughly on the card game, "blackjack."

Mrs. Nearing and Van Doren, tackling questions on "famous pairs" and "the Twenties," played a tie game. They will return to the show next Monday to enter round two of their battle. A loss would automatically knock him off the show.

Van Doren, son of Pulitzer Prize poet Mark Van Doren, is the biggest winner for a single quiz show. An 11-year-old stock expert, Leonard Ross of Tujunga, Calif., has won $164,000 on two shows—"The Big Surprise" and "The $64,000 Challenge."

On his previous appearances on the quiz, the 31-year-old Van Doren had piled up a stake of $138,000.

The slim bachelor, who has an expert working on his tax problem, figures he would wind up with "somewhat more than $40,000" of his present winnings, if forced to declare it as a single year's income.

If Van Doren plays two rounds of the quiz game next week, he could win or lose as much as $31,500. A winning total of that much would give him $174,500, by far the biggest prize in TV history.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Charles Nelson, 815 West Sloan street, Harrisburg, had a near-perfect record in last week's "You Pick 'em" with nine correct selections and missing only by taking West Frankfort over Carbondale.

And failing to predict Carbondale's upset victory just put Charley in a big group that didn't foresee WF taking a defeat.

But Charley was far off in predicting a score in the game of the week. He had Harrisburg romping to a one-sided 90-71 victory.

Three participants tied for second place with 8-2 records—Rollie Moore of Harrisburg, Alvin Beane of Shawneetown and David Nelson of Harrisburg all had just two misses.

Closest on the game of the week score was Homer Hartford of Carrier Mills. He predicted a 51-48 Harrisburg win—a three point margin, just one shy of Harrisburg's point spread.

Received one entry that possibly may have been a winner, but couldn't find it this morning when checking the entries against the actual results.

The lost entry was from John Bruce, Springfield. We are cousins and he addressed it to my home address. Came in Saturday's mail and must have gotten it mixed up with the Sunday paper.

John, who lived in Harrisburg many years ago, stated he had been taking a verbal "beating" since Mt. Vernon lost to Leaning of Springfield. He had been telling all his Springfield friends about how much stronger southern Illinois basketball is than that played in mid-Illinois and backed the Rams. Now he's "eatin' crow."

This week's "You Pick 'em":
Murphysboro at Benton
Chester at Sparta
Du Quoin at McLeansboro
Cave-in-Rock at Galatia
Johnston City at Zeigler
Centralia at West Frankfort
Shawneetown at Enfield
Metropolis at Eldorado

Mt. Vernon at Harrisburg (game of the week)

Word from Madisonville, Ky., reveals that Ronnie Rau, former HTS student, is doing very well in athletics at the Madisonville in both football and basketball and is being counted on for big things in football this coming season.

Ronnie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rau, moved with his family to Madisonville from Harrisburg just before the start of the 1956-57 school term and immediately made the football team. He played in all but two of the ten games, missing the opener and a later game when he was idled by injury. Madisonville had an unbeaten season. Ronnie was an understudy at a halfback post and is expected to take over as a regular in 1957. He is a sophomore.

Spartans Knock Off Illinois, 89-83; Archie Dees Scores 37 Points as Indiana Wins

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan State's surprising Spartans pushed within striking distance of the Big Ten basketball lead today, only one game behind pace-setting Indiana.

The win was Michigan State's 7th in 10 games to tie with Ohio State in 2nd place. The Buckeyes were idle.

Indiana maintained its slim possession of the lead with its 6th straight win, a 90-76 breeze over Iowa to which the league's leading scorer, Archie Dees, contributed 37 points for a new season high in individual scoring.

Minnesota moved into sole possession of 4th place with an easy, 85-53 triumph over last place Wisconsin, and Purdue bounced back from 4 successive losses to notch its 6th win in 11 games and wind up in 5th place.

In moving down Illinois, the preseason title favorite, the Spartans broke an Illini 21-game home winning streak. Jack Quigley led the invaders with 26 points as they moved to an early lead and never fell behind.

It was the first loss for the Illini in Hugg gymnasium since Iowa beat them, 89-70, on Feb. 21, 1955. The Hoosiers, following the pace of Dees who boosted his per game scoring average from 22.5 to 24

Carpentier to Propose 'Public Right To Know' in State Records Act

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier announced today that the State Records Act which he will shortly present to the General Assembly will contain a "public right to know" provision.

The State Records Act, Secretary Carpentier said, is the key bill in the group of proposed legislative acts drafted to implement the recommendations of the National Records Management Council, Inc. The recommendations are the outgrowth of a survey conducted by the Council under Secretary Carpentier's supervision.

Secretary Carpentier said that he had requested that the "public right to know" provision be included in the Act after he had examined the first draft of the bill and that the National Records Management Council consultants had agreed with him.

"In my opinion," said Secretary Carpentier, "the right of every citizen to immediate and unquestioned access to all records of government not prohibited by statutory restrictions or limitations is a fundamental of our free form of government."

Secretary Carpentier said the provision will state: "All records made, created or filed by, or on file with any public officer of the State or any agency are public records and shall be opened for public inspection, except as otherwise provided pursuant to law, at all reasonable times."

The State Records Act provides that the Secretary of State, or any agency or of the Legislative or Judicial branches of the State Government that are determined by him to have sufficient historical or other value to warrant the permanent preservation of such records by the State of Illinois."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Calories are little units of heat or energy which we cannot see or feel. If they are not used in the body they are stored away in globules of fat which stick to our bones and make us obese.

Most people who count their food calories do so because they do not want to be overweight. They do not want to be unattractive to their fellowmen. They do not want to overtax their hearts. They do not want to be physically uncomfortable.

When we give so much attention to these tiny units of energy we ought to give as much of our thinking to the unseen, and unmeasured influences which detract from, or add to, or spiritual attractiveness and comfort. Our souls cannot reflect the presence
